

CONGENITAL ANOMALIES

Volume 47 • Number 3 • September 2007

---

CONTENTS

Review Article

- 77 Roles of leptin in prenatal and perinatal brain development
Jun Udagawa, Toshihisa Hatta, Ryuju Hashimoto, and Hiroki Otani

Hypothesis

- 84 Hyperthermia in utero due to maternal influenza is an environmental risk factor for schizophrenia
Marshall J. Edwards

Original Articles

- 90 Prevention of ochratoxin A-induced neural tube defects by folic acid in the genetic polydactyly/arhinencephaly mouse, *Pdn/Pdn
Ryu-ichi Katagiri, Maho Kurome, Yuko Teshima, Etsuko Ueta, and Ichiro Naruse
- 97 Pattern of chromosomal inversions identified by a birth defects registry, Hawaii, 1986–2002
Mathias B. Forrester and Ruth D. Merz

Case Reports

- 101 First trimester diagnosis of iniencephaly associated with fetal malformations and trisomy 18: Report of a new case and gene analysis on folate metabolism in parents
Gabriele Tonni, Daniela Azzoni, Marco Panteghini, Alessandro Ventura, and Pietro Cavalli
- 105 Trichorhinophalangeal syndrome type II without the chromosome 8 deletion that resembled metachondromatosis
Noriaki Kikuchi, Toshihiko Ogino, Hideo Kashiwa, and Yasuteru Muragaki

Note

- 108 Characteristics of Kbl:Dutch rabbits in prenatal development in comparison with Kbl:New Zealand white rabbits
Ryo Kamata, Tetsuya Matsuoka, Yasumoto Mizoguchi, Ema Sano, Kotaro Serizawa, Toshikazu Ishikura, and Yuzo Asano
- 112 Announcement